TODAYS NEWS:

- 1 - New Products from Oh, Oh Organic.
- 2 - Activities this Fall. Join me at . . .
- 3 - Follow-up to: Changes if you are NOP certified – allowed materials.

O.K. – School starts today and summer fun needs to take a back seat to the multitude of shows coming up. Get creative and have a gorgeous, successful Fall of 2007!

1 – New Products:

We are proud to add two new ingredients:

Organic Olein (from organic palm oil) – This fraction of org. palm oil is high in oleic and palmitic acids – very stable and a great material to use as an emollient. Olein adds to shelf life and remains liquid at normal room temperatures.

Organic Canola Oil RBD – This materials has a high content of linoleic acid so is a great source of Omegas – but it is less stable so you'll need to use our Mixed Tocopherol to add to the shelf life.

2 – Activities this Fall.

Join me as I present:

- At HBA in New York. I know it is short notice but I will be there on Sept. 19th
 - o Presenting: 2:40pm - 3:05pm
Untangling Regulatory Issues of Organic Label Claims
Around the World
- I will also attend ExpoEast and would love to know if any of you will be there. I am strictly there to meet with customers. Please call if you have anything you'd like to discuss. Baltimore, Sept. 27 through the 29th.

I HOPE TO SEE YOU THERE!

3 – – Follow-up to: Changes if you are NOP certified – allowed materials.

Originally the certifiers were allowing any reasonable non-organic minor ingredient that met the requirements of non-GMO, not irradiated, etc. to be used in the 95% - NO MORE! Please consult the newly published 205.606 list to see some of the materials that are allowed. Many of them don't pertain to cosmetics or personal care but you may see some you can use.

Take care of the future now –
